BRINGING WELLNESS HOME FOR MORE THAN 30 YEARS

Originally from Texas, where I earned my BA in accounting, with a minor in marketing, from the University of Texas, my family moved to the Bay Area in 1972. By 1985 we had a five year old child and wanted a quieter lifestyle, which prompted a moved to Healdsburg. Sonoma County has been my home ever since.

My “day job” as accounting manager at a Santa Rosa automobile dealership keeps the bills paid, but my heart has always been in activities that help people in a very direct way. I volunteer for Family Connections (a division of COTS) dedicated to aid the homeless; for New Directions adolescent services (where I have been on the board for 15 years); for the Autism Society, and for the National Organ Donor Program.

This desire to help people in need, as well as some of my own health issues led me to NIKKEN. I was introduced to the company's products in 2001 and have been using their water filtration, various magnetic products as well as nutritional supplements since then. The results I achieved with my own health were so startling that I simply had to bring these amazing products to the attention of the general public. I've been a NIKKEN Independent Wellness Consultant since 2005.

NIKKEN is a debt-free company, in business since 1974, with operations in the U.S. since 1989, and is totally dedicated to bringing health products of uncompromising quality to a public that is becoming quite sophisticated about choosing the best in a crowded field. The environment – inside and outside our homes – is becoming ever more polluted, with health consequences that have conventional physicians scratching their heads. Prescription drugs are all they have available. Those often lead to more problems and certainly do not deal with the actual cause of many illnesses – environmental pollution and the typical western diet.

My sister suffered a severe case of pneumonia which her doctors were finally able to control. However, she never regained her strength. She just kept getting weaker and weaker and was not expected to live. As a Certified NIKKEN Wellness Home Consultant, I decided to attack the problem by completely changing my sister's home environment: the bed she sleeps in, the air she breathes, the water she drinks and the water she showers in. She got stronger each day and, against her doctors' expectations, is now completely recovered.

Based on well-documented evidence that has been known for many decades, NIKKEN focuses on the healing power of magnets, far infrared, pure water and air, and whole food nutritionals. Bringing the body from an acidic to an alkaline state can result in truly amazing health improvements. The company's research scientists are dedicated to finding the latest alternative health discoveries made by Nobel Prize winning researchers. And because of NIKKEN's sterling reputation, those researchers are happy to work with the company to bring their discoveries to market. All new products undergo double-blind, placebo-controlled clinical trials before being released.

Visit my website to see the full NIKKEN line, including an all organic, all food-based line of nutritional supplements to support vibrant health. Some products are available from me on loan so that you can try before you buy. Also, call me for a tour through a NIKKEN Wellness Home! Much of my business comes from alternative and integrative healthcare providers – and also MDs – who realize the many benefits NIKKEN has to offer.

Below are comments from a client with work-related repetitive stress injury to upper back and shoulders, compounded by two rear-end collisions. She had been in intense pain for 10 years, was taking massive doses of pain medication and still could only sleep when upright on a sofa. When introduced to our CM cream and magnets, she started to get relief. Then she took our sleep system home to try for a weekend.

"...and I have never slept so well.... So, when I say I never slept so well it is because sleeping all night (without medication) was a miracle and I found it with Nikken."
